

Galaxy Hearts (Outro)

Abhi the Nomad

Because the most treacherous perilous and greatest Adventures that man has ever known
They all started and ended with love
Those expeditions were taken in the name of love
And like a hot pretzel or sweaty bleacher baseball stands
Or a scallion pancake from the streets of Beijing
At first it isn't much to write home about
But once you taste it for yourself
You'll realize that it drove people of all color to line up around the block
With a mystery hold was a taste of the heart

I wanna dance like the sun isn't burning out
I wanna love even if it ain't working out
It's the blues, everywhere in the galaxy
My body's soul isn't full and I'm half of me

We're all the background, characters
This is a plot twist for the NPCs
When all the hot sick people stare at ya
You always thought that they didn't care enough

This little universe
With big big hearts
The hunger and the thirst
To not be apart
Drones in the sky
But it's you in my eye
I'm okay to die
If I feel alive
Yeah
Galaxy hearts

Nose gear touch down
Having fired the imagination of a generation
And being a ship like no other
It's place in history is secured
As the traveller pulls into port the journey feels like it comes to an end
However it continues infinitely (infinitely, infinitely)
