

Burning Hell

Abigor

part I - the regions of eternal divinity which dwarf dared to set Yggdrasil on fire who became a giant, or even one of us, a god how could the qliph-rotting roots ever be reversed and stretch to our golden halls just to wreak havoc what evil did we allow into our house part II - the regions of earthly mortality death - separating monolith on mortal ways if there is a beginning, there must be an end if light illuminates, from the depths darkness was sent therefore if we reverse what was written in stone eternity opens - hell will be our glorious home there are masters and servants there's ungraspable woe, continuation of opposites but neither time nor above and below so come into our kingdom to rot for evermore a million souls on fire, a sea of bodies gored this land of the spirits - our Reich is real it exists beyond the gate - a burning hell awaits you live nightmare realities and die feverish dreams the lines now blurred stern regions become lentous streams in the twilight between life and death you find heaven and hell both trickle into our world to crack your shell part III - the regions of infernal serenity burning in hell

Adam's seed uprooted, Abel's blood diluted the saps of once heavenly waters are seared four rivers poisonous and polluted saints strangled, prophets muted everyone's burning in hell while the earth rotates antagonisms rise we demand rigid orthodoxy in the gospel of lies under the sun prospers no well the devil eats our world and spits the fires of hell the more creation diverges from its origin the longer the planets spin man and corruption are akin to our nostrils rises sulphurous smell for some an infernal paradise for others sempiternal hell will you rule or serve in hell conclusio wenn der Tod ist sicher dir wenn auch Äther und All dir folgen was bleibt dann noch in der Ewigkeit es sind die Hörner hinter den Sternen es sind die Götter jenseits der Zeit es ist der Nachhall deines Strebens d'rum zu dienen mir sei bereit