

Silence is the key to keep my will under control
Kept til the moment I can't withstand it anymore
Once you told me there's a single way to escape it all
Consequence is lacking. There's no thinking anymore

Silence is the key to erode your ego and alibi
Hopes and wishes set aflame. There's nothing to deny
Thought you were in heaven but you were living in hell
The dawn of your return grants me paralyzed consciousness

Striving for perfection and hiding when it comes
Seeing its reflection and the fire it becomes
My hunger not satiated. I must leave you behind
None to blame. Finger deep within the borderline

Twelve o'clock depression boredom turns to drowsiness
I drink another glass of red. I can't do anything else there's some kind of something going on. I feel it in the air
My doubtful trembling thoughts turns to embraced senseless desp air

I have become insensitive. Hard times just don't go away
My fire, it knew no pain. yet is it dead? Though I remain
I took the shame, I'm one with hurt, I piss on your lies
I'm heading for the border. Alone I can't fear to die

Silence is the key to keep my will under control
Kept til the moment I can't withstand it anymore
Once you told me there's a single way to escape it all
Consequence is lacking. There's no thinking anymore

Silence is the key to erode your ego and alibi
Hopes and wishes set aflame. There's nothing to deny
Thought you were in heaven but you were living in hell
The dawn of your return grants me paralyzed consciousness

Striving for perfection and hiding when it comes
Seeing its reflection and the fire it becomes
My hunger not satiated. I must leave you behind
None to blame. Finger deep within the borderline