Slipping Through the Cracks

Aborym

Just when you think you've seen everything
Just when you think you've covered every loophole
Just when you think you got it made
Just when you think you've seen it all
Just when you think you've got things figured out
Just when it seems like everything's going according to plan
Just when you think you've answered all the questions another one smacks you in the face
Even when you think you've come a very long way
Even when you think you've waited long enough
And just when you think you've finally got your bearings
That's when something happens, then that bomb comes out of the blue

And then you start it again
And then start to fall again

You kept your promises, never have you failed
If something was not right, your money swept it away
There's nothing left for you to buy
And everything you own won't help you when you cry

And then you start it again
And then start to fall again

Now you have to do it again starting from the beginning
You got lost in the loop of unpredictability
Now you have to do it again starting from the beginning
God push the button and you start to fade out

Catch a falling star
Hanging down the sound
You tell a thousand lies
Been told a thousand times
You are walking the dead line
With a pair of broken shoes
No one can help you now
No light to show the way
Then you start it again
God wants you to fade
Falling in the black
Slipping through the cracks

Now you have to do it again starting from the beginning
You got lost in the loop of unpredictability
Now you have to do it again starting from the beginning
God push the button and you start to fade out

Now you have to do it again starting from the beginning
You got lost in the loop of unpredictability
Now you have to do it again starting from the beginning
God push the button and you start to fade out