

The End of a World

Aborym

The world as we know it, will come to an end Just stay, enjoy the show, worship the big bang This marks the sad last day of our dna I don't want to miss all the great fun when it finally blows

I'm standing at the highest point of the hill I wish all of you could see this on TV look at these young men trying to eat a big fish like arctic animals they burrow through the wreckage and their memories

the end of a world
no lights from the satellite Soon they'll see us from a million miles away

the end of a world
a swirl of eerie lights
millions of them
they move like cosmic fireflies

First the lights will go out in Vegas, London, then Rome Riot police is trying to control the unruly crowd How much quicker can you escape what you fear? bodies encircle a fire pit they resemble the rays of the sun

the end of a world
no lights from the satellite Soon they'll see us from a million miles away

the end of a world
a swirl of eerie lights
millions of them
they move like cosmic fireflies