

Headlights

Abstract

Squires has done it again

You're like my favorite song that's playing on the radio
Know I'll hate it by the time you say it's time to go
For the moment, I replay it like it's all I know
Going over and over in my head
Colder and cold until I'm dead (Yeah)
Looking over my shoulder, I guess I ain't done yet
Running and running but I just keep looking back
Guess my mind is connected but my heart still is attached, so

Headlights in your eyes in my town
No time like this moment right now
You're hurt but you say you're okay
I think you need me but won't say

Too many new faces, swear I'm right on the brink
I've been flooding my veins so just pour me one more drink
Too many people in places, I don't know what to think
But I can't find myself, so

I'm swimming away, please save me
I love when you break my heart in two
The pain, I can't take that with me
But I do it for you
So let's stop these games, end 'em right here
I'm picking petals up the floor, my dear
Let's talk, let's take on the night, yeah
I'm not myself if you're not right here

Headlights in your eyes in my town
No time like this moment right now
You're hurt but you say you're okay
I think you need me but won't say

Many new faces, swear I'm right on the brink
I've been flooding my veins so just pour me one more drink
Too many people in places, I don't know what to think
But I can't find myself, so

Walking on the edge, so don't approach me
I got both my hands on the wheel, going full speed
I don't need nobody calling shots from the passenger side
If you down to ride, best that you be down to die

Too many new faces, swear I'm right on the brink
I've been flooding my veins so just pour me one more drink
Too many people in places, I don't know what to think
But I can't find myself, so
Many new faces, swear I'm right on the brink
I've been flooding my veins so just pour me one more drink
Too many people in places, I don't know what to think
But I can't find myself