

Let Down

Abstract

Sometimes I feel let down
Like I'm drowning in my thoughts
They say the world keeps spinning, but how come I'm feeling lost
I feel like a let down
I don't know what left now
You can see my shattered heart
I feel like a let down
I don't know what left now
You can see my shattered heart
Yeah yeah

Let down
Bruised up
I been feeling too much
Leaning on a bottle I could really use a new crutch Smoke starts flowing till I'm higher than my lows are Thought I was making progress but I'm yet to see it so far
Lies known, jigs up, I know who you are now
PTSD echos through me like surround sound
I know I'm broken but I will not break
Outta spite Imma find my way

Sometimes I feel let down
Like I'm drowning in my thoughts
They say the world keeps spinning, but how come I'm feeling lost
I feel like a let down
I don't know what left now
You can see my shattered heart
I feel like a let down
I don't know what left now
You can see my shattered heart
Yeah yeah

She hit me on the phone
Told me I ain't never what she wanted all along
I just said baby I'm a let down and I know
I live in a dangerous home with these hoes
Tell me something new Tell me something I don't know
All these women that I text never been alone
And I love you baby girl and you know three years went by and I never told a soul
Had to keep it inside
How can I tell 'em what is inside now
Tell 'em what I been through now
All my friends probably laugh now if I told them what I did for you
What I did for you

Sometimes I feel let down
Like I'm drowning in my thoughts
They say the world keeps spinning, but how come I'm feeling lost
I feel like a let down
I don't know what left now
You can see my shattered heart
I feel like a let down
I don't know what left now
You can see my shattered heart

Yeah yeah