

Nervous

Abstract

You got me nervous lately
Don't know the words I'm sayin'
My head is spinning crazy now
You got me nervous lately
Don't think the world could save me
My head is spinning crazy now

And you wouldn't last a day
To walk inside this place
I thought it was
By the way the world
I swear to God
I know it's wrong to think
That things would always change
Instead of us
I know I'm not the same
The same one that I was

It was all so simple, we were flying through the fall
Now what's on the outside, don't match the walls at all
The ones my thoughts bounce off of as I'm lying here awake
Should I blame you for changing or was this all my mistake?

Thought that I had learned my lessons
One more call for second chances
I'm still holding onto what you stole
Dancing through your indiscretions
Tryna get our course corrected
All because your love is all I know

And you wouldn't last a day
To walk inside this place
I thought it was
By the way the world
I swear to God
I know it's wrong to think
That things would always change
Instead of us
I know I'm not the same
The same one that I was

You got me nervous lately
Don't know the words I'm sayin'
My head is spinning crazy now
You got me nervous lately
Don't think the world could save me
My head is spinning crazy now

And you wouldn't last a day
To walk inside this place
I thought it was
By the way the world
I swear to God
That things would always change
I'm not the same

The same one that I was
