

Stranger

Abstract

You treat me like a stranger now, a stranger now
What's up with this angle now, angle now?
Something I can't figure out, figure out
All that shit you talk about
You treat me like a stranger now
Why you tryna stress me out?
Thought that you could break me down
But I'm just tryna shake you now, shake you now

You treat me like a stranger now, a stranger now
You actin' like you hate me now, hate me now
You treat me like a stranger now, a stranger now
You actin' like you hate me now, hate me now

Quit actin' like a stranger
Quit actin' like a stranger
Quit actin' like a stranger

Used to be mine, a whole 'nother life
The memories tax me
I'll be alright, just something I'll write
'Cause you'll never ask me
I saw my whole life flash in your eyes like a streetlight
But promise, I'm finding the good in the goodbye
Got a young Salma Hayek in my bed
And my pockets don't know what to do next
I get high when you creep into my head
Just because you're the lowest I've ever been
I don't think that you know who you messin' with
When I'm pressed, I forget what I represent
Look, I'm just serving justice off evidence
You deserve every ounce of my pettiness
Because you treated us like strangers

You treat me like a stranger now, a stranger now
You actin' like you hate me now, hate me now
You treat me like a stranger now, a stranger now
You actin' like you hate me now, hate me now

Quit actin' like a stranger
Quit actin' like a stranger

You treat me like a stranger now
Why you tryna stress me out?
Thought that you could break me down
But I'm just tryna shake you now, shake you now

You treat me like a stranger now, a stranger now
You actin' like you hate me now, hate me now
You treat me like a stranger now, a stranger now
You actin' like you hate me now, hate me now

Quit actin' like a stranger
Quit actin' like a stranger
