

Currents

ACCVSED

Purify me in my fears
I failed to realize that all I needed is right here

I never thought you'd be the lighthouse
That would show me the way out of this decay
I'm so glad you're on my mind now
This sinking ship fell for all the sirens calling

As I screamed for a place to rest
When silence was the only thing left
As I screamed for you
Hold me tight and never let me go

Purify me in my fears
I failed to realize that all I needed is right here
You helped me swim against the tide
So when drowning seemed to be my last goodbye

I failed to realize that all I needed is right here

I wouldn't ask for nothing else
Just a place to rest my head
This current will guide our path
Swim against the tide!

I failed to realize that all I need
Was for you to see the best in me

Purify me in my fears
I failed to realize that all I needed is right here
You helped me swim against the tide
So when drowning seemed to be my last goodbye

I failed to realize that all I needed is right here

And when the lifeline was broken, with water in my mouth
I breathed you in to start again

And for the last time, will you follow me tonight?
To the depths where my demons hide!

Follow me down, feel the pressure rise
In the depths where my demons hide

Purify me in my fears
I failed to realize that all I needed is right here
You helped me swim against the tide
So when drowning seemed to be my last goodbye

I failed to realize that all I needed is right here

I never thought you'd be the lighthouse
I'm so glad you're on my mind now
This sinking ship fell for all the sirens