

Beast Mode

Ace Hood

...it's when it just clicked in my mind that, if you just run through somebody face, a lot of people ain't gon' be able to take that over and over and over and over and over and over and over and over and over and over...and over and over and over and over and over and over again, they just not gon' want that

Think there's a deeper metaphor there?

Run through a motherfucker's face, you won't have to worry about him no more