Empty Room

Acres

You gave me something that I never thought I'd need
So tell me how I fix this hole in my chest that you ripped out of me
'Cause I've been biting my tongue for eternity
Numb to the pain of your agony
I couldn't swallow the feeling of your goodbye

I guess I know
I'd never let you go
What do I say
When you're the reason I'm feeling this way?
'Cause I've been counting the days since
You left me alone
I guess I know
I'd never let you go

You gave me something that I knew I couldn't keep
You kept out a sickness that I didn't know I had inside of me
I guess that falling apart was a thing for two
Now I'm sleeping alone in this empty room
I couldn't hide from this feeling if I tried

I guess I know
I'd never let you go
What do I say
When you're the reason I'm feeling this way?
'Cause I've been counting the days since
You left me alone
I guess I know
I'd never let you go
Never let you go

I guess I know
I'd never let you go
What do I say
When you're the reason I'm feeling this way?

I guess I know
I'd never let you go
Never let you go
What do I say
When you're the reason I'm feeling this way?
'Cause I've been counting the days since
You left me alone
I guess I know
I'd never let you go
Never let you go