

Medicine

Acres

We said the hardest part of living, is knowing that we die
I'll question everyone for answers 'cause I like knowing why
Alone in my head
An awful place that's filled with misery from knowing that I'm not what I should be

Did I disappoint, when you gave up on me?
You say you're wasting time, I say that I'm in need

I can't forget the days when I could say that I was fine
Beneath this mask where I hide I can keep my head held high
No heaven could save me from this hell inside my mind
If you choose to write me off I promise that I will survive

They say that we're not getting younger
So I spend most of my time wishing life was over (hanging on)
And I'm barely hanging on, but I'm still here
Can you give me all the medicine I need?

I'm so afraid of what's around the corner there for me
And my skin feels numb
This curse follows me

I'll be fine, I'll be fine, I'll be fine
If I can get away from you
And I'll be fine, I'll be fine, I'll be fine
If I can get away from you

They say that we're not getting younger
I spend most of my time wishing life was over

They say that we're not getting younger
So I spend most of my time wishing life was over (hanging on)
And I'm barely hanging on, but I'm still here
Can you give me all the medicine I need?

And I'll be fine, I'll be fine, I'll be fine
If I can get away from you
And I'll be fine, I'll be fine, I'll be fine
If I can get away from you
