

Between Good and Evil

Acroma

The dark side of your mind took part of your being you try to stop it but you don't take a step back you're looking for victims of your madness walking in the endless night everything in your mind has sense, has sense

Step by step, you look for freedom while the voices in your mind fight back you're relieved to be awake
'cause at dawn you hide the pain
Step by step, you look for freedom
while the voices in your mind fight back
you're relieved to be awake
'cause at dawn you hide the pain

As hard as you try to change your way how difficult it is to escape you don't realize your destiny to struggle between good and evil

Day and night you try to hide yourself from those deep dark shadows there's more than meets the eye