

Secret Passageway

Acroma

My eyes blink
My existence is shattering
You smile at my ignorance
'Cause you know what will become of me
I see in your face
That my life will turn strange
Remind me please that not all things changes
My time expired
The cold shadows returns to me
To the absurd moment when I open my eyes

Where were I if my feet never moved?
Brief life locked up in my thoughts
Is this the taste of the death or
Just my fool mind?
I feel comfortable now

The walls embrace me
I'm locked inside them
And I'm so far from the ground
That I don't want escape
Disappear from a dream and I awake in my usual nightmare
I try shouted very loud for you can hear me
I don't should stay here
You should not let me alone

Where were I if my feet never moved?
Brief life locked up in my thoughts
Is this the taste of the death or
Just my fool mind?
I feel comfortable now
It was so real that maze
It was so easy as falling and getting lost in his voice
Is this the taste of the death or
Just my fool mind?
