

I Will Sing

Ada Ehi

I will sing
For the joy of the Lord has now become my strength
He is my peace and I am satisfied
He's taken the sorrow, given a new song to sing
Forever I will sing, oh, I will sing
Forever I will sing, oh, I will sing

I will sing
For the joy of the Lord has now become my strength
He is my peace and I am satisfied
He's taken the sorrow, given a new song to sing
Forever I will sing, oh, I will sing
Forever I will sing, oh, I will sing
I will sing, I will sing
Forever I will sing
I will sing, and shout of your mercy
I will sing, and shout of your beauty
I will sing, to the one in whom I live and live eternally
Oh, I will sing, and shout of your mercy
I will sing, and shout of your beauty
I will sing, to the one in whom I live and live eternally

Oh, I will sing, for the joy of the Lord has now become my strength
He is my peace and I am satisfied
He's taken the sorrow and given me a new song to sing
Forever I will sing, oh, I will sing
Forever I will sing, oh, I will sing
Forever I will sing, oh, I will sing
Of your mercies, I will sing
Of your beauty, I will sing

Forever I will sing, oh, I will sing
Oh, I will sing
Oh, I will sing

Forever I will sing, oh, I will sing
I will sing
I will sing