Anything

Adam Melchor

Maybe if it was sometime ago
Maybe if it wasn't so late
Maybe if you didn't leave
Maybe if you didn't wait

I don't know who I would be
I don't know who I'll become
Even if I was free
Would you even be enough

She wants to know what happened
She wants to know the process

When did you start to think
That you might wanna come on back
I started every day
Thinking about what we once had

And now you know how it must feel
To have your heart torn up to shreds
When something feels this real
And really like it never left

I don't need to be your everything
I just wanna be your anything
Standing on top of monroe
Calling someone I barely know
Now she knows everything
She's the reason I am anything