

Yesterday

Addison Road

I hear the clock tickin' inside my head
Will it ever get here, will it ever be said?
You know the words I need to hear, but you don't say them
You know these are my deepest fears, just allay them please, please

I don't get it, it seems that you know me so why don't you show me?

These fights, these silent nights are blinding, always remindin g me of yesterday, of yesterday. What happened to yesterday? ye sterday

The words, the words, the empty stares from you, I think inside of me you must be through

What happened to the love that always was?

I want you so bad to come back home

Please, please, please. please

And I don't get it, it seems that you know me so why don't you show me?

These fights, these silent nights are blinding, always remindin g me of yesterday, of yesterday. What happened to yesterday? ye sterday

Please, please. please, please

I don't get it, it seems that you know me so why don't you show me?

These fights, these silent nights are blinding, always remindin g me of yesterday, of yesterday. What happened to yesterday? ye sterday
