Same As The Beginning

Adrianne Lenker

I got my spin, got my circle, got my orbit around you
Where it starts is where it ends, then it starts again

Around and round and round I go
Held by your gravity I flow
Round and round and round again
You hold me close, there is no end

Yet I feel so still, feel so stuck, feel so stationary
Night after night, though I move like the moon, I'm predictable

Around and round and round I go
Held by your gravity I flow
Round and round and round again
You hold me close there is no end

I've tried to cycle through
Variations on who I am
But every time that I do
I turn back to you the same as the beginning

I'll spin my facts, churn my truth, recycle all my evidence
But truth be told, in the end I'm so glad I belong to you

Round and round and round I go
Held by your gravity I flow
Round and round and round again
You hold me close there is no end

I've tried to cycle through
Variations on who I am
But every time that I do
I turn back to you the same as the beginning

Round and round and round I go
Held by your gravity I flow
Round and round and round again
You hold me close there is no end

I've tried to cycle through
Variations on who I am
But every time that I do
I turn back to you the same as the beginning

Got my spin, got my circle, got my orbit around you
Where it starts is where it ends, then it starts again
