

Stages Of The Sun

Adrianne Lenker

I wait in the dark for the day to start
For the sun to show, for my sight to grow
And if it should be an eternity
I will wait right here for you

A silent choice to hear the voice
Rising from my soul, for my heart to hold
And if it should bring an awakening
I will sing its song with you

I become, I become
I become the sun
I become, I become
Oh I become the sun

I walk through the day trying to obey
What I learned from you and I feel is true
And if it should break every step I take
I will rise and set with you

I become, I become
I become the sun
I become, I become
Oh I become the sun

I become the sun, I become the sun
From the morning till the day is done
I become, I become the sun
I become the sun, I become the sun
From the morning till the day is done
I become, I become the sun

The golden glow dims from my soul
As the sun dives to the earth below
But with each new day I will find
My way through the stages of the sun

I become, I become
I become the sun
I become, I become
Oh I become the sun
