Aeris Roves

I'm tired of living in a digital world
With digital girls and digital curves
It's a little too perfect
Just a little too perfect
I always see you through my digital eyes
Your digital smile's a little too bright
And it leaves me uncertain
Oh, it leaves me uncertain

Artificial news with superficial views
I won't be making do with a beauty that's untrue
I give a thousand likes and still, there's no reply
Would it make a difference if I was verified?

Do you lie awake at night
Staring down the end of your phone?
What is it we're looking to find
That's making us feel so alone?

So can we take this offline?
'Cause I want something real
Not just another timeline, that just don't appeal
Now I would wait a lifetime if you're gonna reveal
What's really on the inside, if it's something I can feel

What do you do when you need a good cry?
'Cause your circuits will fry
And put your life on the line
But your life is online, yeah
Maybe you could use a sad face emoji
A digital token of a heart that's been broken
And that's a love that's unspoken

Do you lie awake at night
Staring down the end of your phone?
What is it we're looking to find
That's making us feel so alone?

So can we take this offline?
'Cause I want something real
Not just another timeline, that just don't appeal
Now I would wait a lifetime, yeah, if you're gonna reveal
What's really on the inside, if it's something I can feel

You can keep on swiping and swiping
You can keep on swiping and swiping

So can we take this offline? (Yeah, yeah)
So can we take this offline? (Yeah, yeah)
So can we take this offline? (Yeah, yeah)
So can we take this offline? (Yeah, yeah)
