Class War Necessity

Agathocles

I don't need my fucking race
I don't judge by colour of face people divided because of skin this will only make the capitalists win

Racial pride ain't worth a fight save your anger and use it right

Modern slavery doesn't know colour only green, from the dollar the only division is between rich and poor and the first one are getting more and more

A black capitalist still is a fucking capitalist a white homeless family remains a family in poverty so i don't need no race to face this cruel reality end of the story: class-war necessity
