Selfmade

Agnes

We live in the era of being selfmade
So who is a keeper, who goes to waste?
We live every minute, delete and replace
It's all or nothing
We live in the era of being selfmade
So who is a keeper, who goes to waste?
We live every minute, delete and replace
It's all or nothing

You brush off your shoulder, can't get up off your knees
So, it's the hundredth time you've been knocked down this week
They say, say that you're crazy, but who can stay sane
When your "too much" is not enough, again and again?

It takes a woman to know, a woman to grow
It takes a woman to draw the lines out
It takes a woman to know, a woman to grow
It takes a woman to be alive now

We live in the era of being selfmade
So who is a keeper, who goes to waste?
We live every minute, delete and replace
It's all or nothing

It takes a
It takes a
It takes a woman
It takes a woman
It takes a
It takes a
It takes a woman
It takes a woman

You feel the pressure is rising
Yeah, you can't make it stop
But how far will it go, till enough is enough?
You know you saw in your mind a different scene
And this is not the picture of your future dream

It takes a human to change, resetting the frame
It takes a human to draw the lines out
It takes a human to know, a human to grow
It takes a human to be alive now

It takes a
It takes a
It takes a woman
It takes a woman
It takes a
It takes a
It takes a woman
It takes a woman

We live in the era of being selfmade
So who is a keeper, who goes to waste?
We live every minute, delete and replace
It's all or nothing

We live in the era of being selfmade
So who is a keeper, who goes to waste?
We live every minute, delete and replace
It's all or nothing

What today seems like insanity
Tomorrow might be reality
What today seems like insanity
Tomorrow might be reality
What today seems like insanity
Tomorrow might be reality
What today seems like insanity
Tomorrow might be reality
What today seems like insanity
Tomorrow might be reality
What today seems like insanity
Tomorrow might be reality
What today seems like insanity
Tomorrow might be reality
