

I don't claim to know you baby
I love the dream
There's someone that hates you maybe
But that's not me

I know this dream is just a lie
In time these things should always die

I always wanted you to sing it in my ear
While sleeping next to me right here
Never heard the melody you sang with voice so clear
On my cheek I felt a little tear

I would like to know you baby
Not like a stalker
I'd love to show you maybe
What I'm really like

I know this dream is just a lie
In time these things should always die
