

The Architect's Hand

AHI

From the architect's hands
Father drew me his plans
I built a palace in Addis
Walls of Casa Loma
Temples in Shenyang
Started all of the wonders
From the time I was younger
Then you came as you are Found a place in my heart
I knew those days were numbered

I was rulin' out I'd ever find my cornerstone
Ever since you've been around I've had someone to call my own
I have made a name and built it up across this globe
But I'd tear it all down if you and I could be alone

In my father's footsteps
I have learned from the best
Don't want to shatter the dreams
My family laid down for me
But it's time I confess
Everything I worked for
Just a revolving door
'Til underneath my
You fall into my arms
You were mine, I was yours

I was rulin' out I'd ever find my cornerstone
Ever since you've been around I've had someone to call my own
I have made a name and built it up across this globe
But I'd tear it all down if you and I could be alone

I was rulin' out I'd ever find my cornerstone
Ever since you've been around I've had someone to call my own
I have made a name and built it up across this globe
But I'd tear it all down if you and I could be alone

From the architect's hands
Father drew me his plan
I built a palace in Addis
Walls of Casa Loma
Temples in Shenyang