You're so bright that all guys' pupils get bigger when they see you
It's good but it makes me kind of nervous
I'm happy that you're pretty but it makes me feel that much smaller
My feelings grow bigger but I getting smaller in my heart
My heart isn't working how I want, please stop me

There's no problem with you, you're perfect
But I have so many problems and you're the only answer
That's why I'm more desperate

I'm sick of the typical things that guys say
I love you, your words mixed with worry
I'm young and a little soft and ordinary
But you perfect me by making me into a special person

Still in love with you Still in love with you
How can I change? If I'm not crazy?
Still in love with you Still in love with you
How can I change? If I'm not crazy?

You're like a bittersweet fruit, for me who isn't confident and is foolish
The love cells stop increasing because of my inferior complex
I can't overcome our difference, your friends keep whispering but I can hear them
I can't laugh over it with a good joke
You're fresh but I'm afraid this love will wither
I'm nervous that you'll get sick of me for being so pathetic

I love you, your complicated lips
Your small acts of jealousy that you try to hide
I'm young and a little soft and ordinary
But you perfect me by making me into a special person

Still in love with you Still in love with you
How can I change? If I'm not crazy?
Still in love with you Still in love with you
How can I change? If I'm not crazy?

I have nothing to show off, I'm sorry
I'm feeling this distance all by myself, because of my self-loathing
I hate it when my face turns red when I don't want to
I think I should love myself a little more
If it's for you, I'll try

Don't worry, I won't change
I love you and want you more than anyone else right now
My love is true
You're the sun that only looks at me
My other half that completes me as a whole

Still in love with you Still in love with you
How can I change? If I'm not crazy?
Still in love with you Still in love with you
How can I change? If I'm not crazy?
