Par for the Course

Aimee Mann

It's par for the course You bet the wrong horse You put down the phone and cried For yourself And for what You couldn't have

A plea That won't do Now that she Serves it to you

And I don't even know you I don't even know you anymore I don't even know you I don't even know you

It's all you deserve The loss of the nerve The grade of the curve Has brought you to this By the boat that you missed You clung to the raft So she swerved out of your path

And I don't even know you I don't even know you anymore I don't even know you anymore

You loved her a lot But she lost the plot And timing is everything In this game So let's have A moment of blame

Think how It could have been Well you should Have said it all then

And I don't even know you I don't even know you anymore I don't even know you anymore

I don't even know you anymore I don't even know you anymore
