The platform of Kitasenju station
Silver ticket gates
We talked about old times and indulged in reminiscences
On the bench we were sitting

We couldn't see it,
But pledged the future to each other

Trees and cats standing the cold are like us
They are quivering the fruits
Trying to bloom the buds
Smiling nicely

Don't have to be in a hurry
Please become a bouquet someday

Wait for the time
We'll spend the development until we get bored
Telling the least love

What kind of future is peeping at here?
If we share your strength and my weakness
What a wonderful thing would happen?
Look We already are so happy
Sometime alone Sometime together
Let's get precious things more

Walking through Kitasenju station with indigo skirt fluttering in the wind
It seems farther away unusually
Accelerating footsteps

I felt like I must be honest

Because it's no one but you walking in front of me that who puts the hand on the back of the man who is too frightend due to his spoiledness

I want the future to wave its hand to me
Daily bitterness and my body have been looking for the place to go back slovenly
Look, the sun is setting so much
When remembering the light of someday
I'll notice importance

What kind of future is peeping at here?
If we share your strength and my weakness

What a wonderful thing would happen?
Look We already are so happy
Sometime alone Sometime together
Shall we get precious things more and more?

The platform of the station where I got used to Say hello to the light blue
The happiness of stepping on the swaying shade that says "Welcome home"
