Tonight

Air Supply

Now you tell me that the time is right You've let your feeling go And you know I won't use them up too fast I can't promise you the best there is Bot, oh, I'm gonna try I'm never gonna let you go tonight

Tonight, the start of a love to remember Tonight, a love that will never be ended Tonight, tonight

Let me take you where there's no return Where dreams can all come true I've got the feeling we've been holding on too long What we're feeling is ours alone No one will ever know Just how we feel about tonight

Tonight, the start of a love to remember Tonight, a love that will never be ended Tonight, tonight

How many times has love fallen through When I left it all up to you I took your words when you said It's got to be just right I need you now, I need you now

Tonight, the start of a love to remember Tonight, a love that will never be ended Tonight, tonight
