

Brightest Moon

Air Traffic Controller

The brightest moon hanging over me
Someday soon I hope you see
Cold night in June, no one next to me
But the white balloon above the trees

If I'm gone by morning you will know
The brightest moon won't let me go
But if by dawn, I'm resting in your bed
The brightest moon has led me home

Blanket of light covering the streets
There's no one on this road, but me
I tried to fight it but I, I couldn't keep my eyes
From wondering over hills and over mountains

If I'm gone by morning you will know
The brightest moon won't let me go
But if by dawn, I'm resting in your bed
The brightest moon has led me home again

Moon... moon... moon... moon

Brightest moon hanging over me
Such a sweet discovery
Like snow in the shade in the month of May
Or realizing anyone can take your place
If you disappeared or went away
Start another life in a brand new place
World seems bigger
Only trying to figure
What else is gonna come my way
