Enough

Aisha Badru

Pain is like the rain that falls down
Blue skies turn to gray, you fall from a cloud
But if it didn't rain, would the trees rise from the ground?
And if it didn't hurt, would you be this strong now?

So don't be afraid to fall, oh-ah, oh-ah, oh-ah
You were made to rise above, oh-ah, oh-ah, oh-ah
And don't be afraid to love, oh-ah, oh-ah, oh-ah
I promise that you're enough

Sometimes it feels like the world is crashing down
Nobody can hear the pain, but it hurts so loud
But maybe loneliness brings us closer to ourselves
And pushes us to learn to love from the inside out

So don't be afraid to fall, oh-ah, oh-ah, oh-ah
You were made to rise above, oh-ah, oh-ah, oh-ah
And don't be afraid to love, oh-ah, oh-ah, oh-ah
I promise that you're enough

Pain is like the rain that falls down
Pain is like the rain that falls down

So don't be afraid to fall, oh-ah, oh-ah, oh-ah
You were made to rise above, oh-ah, oh-ah, oh-ah
And don't be afraid to love, oh-ah, oh-ah, oh-ah
I promise that you're enough
I promise that you're enough
I promise that you're enough
I promise that you're enough
