

When I'm Gone

AKA

I'll write you a song you can play
When I'm gone away
So girl be strong for today
I'll be back before you know
Once again and again and again

Day summer is been a long wait
Marathon I run this shit at my own pace
Look at my lady and say baby what's with the long face?
She said nothing I just hate it when you go away
You know it's like we knew this shit would happen
It just so happen this shit is harder than we imagined
Awuh! I guess we gotta thank you summer
Dark days made people show their true colors
I know... sick and tired of my silly games
I see the tears dry in your pretty face
About my summer try be a better man
I turned around through the same shit again

I'll write you a song you can play
When I'm gone away
So girl be strong for today
I'll be back before you know
Once again and again and again

I just hope my girl is ready for the success
We had fun I know it's a little unfair
Can't help me till herself like she wanted
And that's a reason that she was scared to jump in Promise me one thing... Even though I do
Come with good girls in the city you my one hell
Hope is feeling everlast
Do me some till em bitchez who jealous of what you have in you
Steady looking out these window panes
Thinking about every city where they know my name
Counting down every minute till I get home again
Until then... Imma

I'll write you song you can play
When I'm gone away
So girl be strong for today
I'll be back before you know
Once again and again and again

Hey! When the time goes, it's like a minute is a day
Every second I'm away, everytime I hit the stage
With my eyes closed know you wish it was still the same
Me touching you and kissing you all over your friend
Trynna pick through your life oh
Step up in the room trynna quick through my iPhone
For when I lose here my name see the life oh
So many Jews in my view who might mind oh
Trynna get back to who my heart cry for
I know it's my fault
Trynna make sense of where my life was
Baby I'm never too far
I wrote you a song wherever you are

I'll write you a song you can play
When I'm gone away
So girl be strong for today
I'll be back before you know
Once again and again and again
