Yeah, oh, yeah, oh, yeah

I made the mark on February 1st Between me and you, you can call it birth The beginning of our universe Remind me of Alicia Keys verse

I'm falling for you
I wish I had an opportunity to not do
What I did to hurt you
And now I'm here living with regrets

I know that it was my fault
I know that I got caught
So please don't lose your thoughts
Of me loving you and you loving me

I'm on the highway swerving
I ain't drunk but I'm about to hit the curb'n
Looking at the calendar getting nervous
Just a few more days to the first soul

This the day it all began

One place that it came together

More than a ring or a tattoo

Wish your birthmark that reminds me of you

So let's get on an airplane Go back to where we began To that point which is days apart That stamp right next to your heart

To your heart, to your heart To your heart, to your heart To your heart, to your heart To your heart, to your heart

To your heart, to your heart To your heart, to your heart To your heart, to your heart To your heart

Get the calendar, go to August 3rd 1st words stay, we heard our 1st words First argument gotta let it go 'Cause it could possibly affect what our future holds

Flipping pages now famous
Thinking back I ain't seen you in ages
Wishing that I coulda made it less painless
Brings me back right back to the same as

I know that it was my fault
I know that I got caught
So please don't lose your thoughts
Of me loving you and you loving me

I'm on the highway swerving
I ain't drunk but I'm about to hit the curb'n
Looking at the calendar getting nervous
Just a few more days to the first soul

This the day it all began

One place that it came together

More than a ring or a tattoo

Wish your birthmark that reminds me of you

So let's get on an airplane Go back to where we began To that point which is days apart That stamp right next to your heart

To your heart, to your heart To your heart, to your heart To your heart, to your heart To your heart, to your heart

To your heart, to your heart To your heart, to your heart To your heart, to your heart To your heart

January, February, March, April, May June, July, August is just another day September, October, November trying to find a way In December to mark my calendar to meet again

If only we can go to that place where me and you know There's no faith fronting cheating even lying The time has come where we stand face to face

This the day it all began

One place that it came together

More than a ring or a tattoo

Wish your birthmark that reminds of you

So let's get on an airplane
Go back to where we began
To that point which is days apart
That stamp right next to your heart
To your heart, to your heart
To your heart

That stamp right next to your heart
To your heart, to your heart

To your heart, to your heart
To your heart, to your heart
To your heart, to your heart
To your heart
That stamp right next to your heart