

Chain

Alan Jackson

Chain, break the chain
I will never free my heart and break the chain

She led me deep in the woods of love
And left me there lost and all alone
And though it hurts, I can't let go
She's wrapped forever, deep around my soul

Chain, break the chain
I will never free my heart and break the chain
You can't break the chain when the love remains
I will never free my heart and break the chain

A flame burns in me like an old freight train
Bound to the tracks that hold it in its place
The more I try to run away
The more I feel as though I never will escape

This chain, break the chain
I will never free my heart and break the chain
You can't break the chain when the love remains
I will never free my heart and break the chain
No, I will never free my heart and break the chain
