

Dead End

ALAZKA

Trying to save my soul
When you're all alone
All the miles we went
You tried to pretend, there's Somewhere else to go

Lead my life on the edge
Or back against the wall
Your eyes reflecting the coming fall
You knew to let me in
I had to let you go
It's too late, now I know

That if I try to fight
The pain inside, there's
Nowhere else to go
Took our games too far
Forgot who we are, there's
Nowhere else to go

All the words they say
About the price we pay
Tell me it's no use
I'm facing the truth
Pushing you away

I know I can't live my life on the edge
Or back against the wall
Your eyes reflecting the coming fall
You let me in
I let you go
It's too late, now I know

That if I try to fight
The pain inside, there's
Nowhere else to go
Took our games too far
Forgot who we are, there's
Nowhere else to go

That if I try to fight
The pain inside, there's
Nowhere else to go
Took our games too far
Forgot who we are, there's
Nowhere else to go...

That if I try to fight
Nowhere else to go
Took our games too far
Forgot who we are, there's
Nowhere else to go
We're on our own

You let me in
I let you go

Our souls born in a broken home
We let it die
We carry on
To find our place
