

Somebody's Happiness

Albert Hammond

Somebody's happiness
Somebody's happiness
Is someone else's loneliness
And pain this moment

Somebody's holding you
Somebody's holding you
The way my empty arms
Still long to do this moment

This was my love affair
This was my truest love
That ever lived
And true love never dies

And then you flew away
To someone else one day
I saw my happiness, my happiness
Turn into loneliness before my eyes

You were my everything
You were my music and my laughter
And my moon and my starry skies

And then you flew away
To someone else one day
Somebody's, my happiness
Turn into loneliness before my eyes

And then you flew away
To someone else one day
Somebody's, my happiness
Turn into loneliness before my eyes
