

The Right Time

Albert Hammond

One more day like so many days before
One more room like any other 'til you walked through the door
When our eyes collided there was nothing we could do
There and then we knew

Sometimes things don't work out the way we plan
Times like these they're hard to handle, we do the best we can
Oh, I know we may be easy targets to attack
There's no going back

We do the best we can
Oh, I know we may be easy targets to attack
There's no going back

This is the right time
This is the right place
We got a right to feel this good

This is the right time
This is the right place
We got a right to feel this good
And I wouldn't fight it if I could