Only one woman

Ten little Indians Standing around I bet there are many So how would I know

As she was only one woman - only one woman And I've got a picture of the woman I love Who sees my lovely face? Who sees my shame Nobody in the place Can tell me her name.

'Cause she was only one woman - only one woman And I've got a picture of the woman I love Ten little indians Now there are none I bet there are many And her love still goes on.

'Cause she was only one woman - only one woman And I've got a picture of the woman I love Well she was only one woman - only one woman And I've got a picture of the woman I love ...
