

Together We Fall

Alec Benjamin

I know it's cold, but it's not freezing
And I know you're tired, but you're not sleeping
Don't close your eyes 'cause your heart's still beating
And down, together we'll fall
Together we'll fall, together we'll fall

I know it's dark, but you can see me
The air is thin, but you're still breathing
Not in your lungs, but your mind's believing
And down, together we'll fall, together we'll fall

You've been standing on your own for far too long
For too long, for too long, for too long
And you never found the faith to just move on
To move on, to move on, to move on
And deep within your heart, I see the light
Shouting to break through
And everything I know tells me it's right
And I will fall with you

And from the night, there comes a new dawn
And from the fire, bring to life
Rise from the ashes, there's no surrender
And down, together we'll fall
Together we'll fall, together we'll fall

You've been standing on your own for far too long
For too long, for too long, for too long
And you never found the faith to just move on
To move on, to move on, to move on
And deep within your heart, I see the light
Shouting to break through
And everything I know tells me it's right
And I will fall with you

You've been standing on your own for far too long
For too long, for too long, for too long
And you never found the faith to just move on
To move on, to move on, to move on
And deep within your heart, I see the light
Shouting to break through
And everything I know tells me it's right
And I will fall with you
