

Wrinkles

Alec Benjamin

Wrinkles
Tributaries like the Nile
Picture frames around your smile
Reminds me that it's been a while
And your wrinkles
A demonstration of the weather
An indication of the pressure
I see you tried to make them better

Reminds me that it's been forever
Forever, forever, forever, forever

Wrinkles
Forming like the Grand Canyon
The best wrinkle on our planet
And we didn't even plan it

These lines reach into the future
New skin soon will turn into ya
I'm a son that will become my father
Hoping to grandfather
Wearing wrinkles

Get out
You know I thought I could escape it
So I moved into the city
Where I thought it couldn't find me
But I came back
To see the difference in our faces
Find I couldn't hide from changes
Now I know I can't erase this
So we'll be like this forever
Forever, forever, forever, forever

These lines reach into the future
New skin soon will turn into ya
I'm a son that will become my father
Hoping to grandfather
Wearing wrinkles

These lines reach into the future
New skin soon will turn into ya
These lines reach into the future
New skin soon will turn into ya
I'm a son that will become my father
Hoping to grandfather
Wearing wrinkles
