

Amsterdam

Alejandro Escovedo

She's back from Amsterdam
And I think the journey did her well
Her face has lost its touch
The tell-tell signs of loneliness in sight
And I love her still
And need her company once more
Come down, come down
Come down, come down once more
And I do believe the journey did her well
And I do believe the journey did her well

She said she fell in love
With a man who knew
The way to treat a lady
Her life is settled for
The best of things
That I couldn't give her
And it's not her fault
She's not the one to blame
Come down, come down
Come down, come down once more
And I do believe the journey did her well
Yes, I do believe the journey did her well
Yes, I do believe the journey did her well