

Drunken Sun

ALEKSEEV

I've seen it all, I'm over it
All those I loved for whom I left
The walls are back, her face is fadin'
Your flaming dusk, my blazing dawn
I don't look back at what is gone
Those memories so, intoxicatin'

Drunken sun, drunken sun
Stumbling and floatin'
There'll never ever be another mornin'
Though I can hear you cry
You try to hide your eyes
From the skies
Drunken sun, drunken sun
What am I missin'?
The birds are flyin', die without a reason
So don't you kill me now
Until I paid the price, the price

I've seen it all I'm over it
The way I am, the way I've been
We're out of words, it's all frustratin'
I don't see you, only a crowd
And there I stand without a sound
Those memories so intoxicatin'

Drunken sun, drunken sun
Stumbling and floatin'
There'll never ever be another mornin'
Though I can hear you cry
You try to hide your eyes
From the skies
Drunken sun, drunken sun
What am I missin'?
The birds are flyin', die without a reason
So don't you kill me now
Until I paid the price, the price

(Ooh, ooh, ooh)

Drunken sun, drunken sun
Stumbling and floatin'
There'll never ever be another mornin'
Though I can hear you cry
You try to hide your eyes
From the skies
Drunken sun, drunken sun
What am I missin'?
The birds are flyin', die without a reason
So don't you kill me now
Until I paid the price, the price
