Somebody Else

Alessia Cara

I don't know you
It was nice to for a while
I'm wondering if you're still thinking about me
But I don't know that
So I fill blanks with my own pride
I tell myself you're miserable without me

I'm so at a loss
Still confused waiting you out
Waiting you out
You're so
Far gone
Far removed and sleeping sound
You're sleeping sound

There's no grey this time
It's black and white
I'm by myself
You're somebody else
No between the lines
It's black and white
I'm by myself
And you're somebody else

Somebody, somebody else
Somebody else
Somebody, somebody else
Somebody else
Somebody, somebody else
Somebody else
Somebody, somebody else
Somebody else

Thought it was "until we're seventy"
Now you're a ghost in front of me
Like some kind of black magic
You tricked me good
Do you miss me just a little bit?
Didn't it matter? No, no

But I'm so at a loss
Still confused, waiting you out
Waiting you out
You're so
Far gone
Far removed and sleeping sound
You're sleeping sound, ah

There's no grey this time
It's black and white
I'm by myself
You're somebody else
No between the lines
It's black and white
I'm by myself
And you're somebody else

Somebody, somebody else
Somebody else
Somebody, somebody else
Somebody else
Somebody, somebody else
Somebody else
Somebody, somebody else
Somebody else

Something's just not right
You're living a new life
You're not yourself
Not yourself
You're gone but it's alright
I'm gonna be loved by
Somebody else
Somebody else

There's no grey this time
It's black and white
I'm by myself
You're somebody else
No between the lines
It's black and white
I'm by myself
And you're somebody else

Somebody, somebody else
Somebody else
Somebody, somebody else
Somebody else
Somebody, somebody else
Somebody else
Somebody, somebody else
Somebody else
Somebody, somebody else
Somebody else
Somebody, somebody else
Somebody else