

Displaced

Alex Aiono

I just feel displaced
Like I'm not myself
Like I woke up in the same bed
But I'm somewhere else
I feel half erased
Watching glaciers melt
Like I'll get by but I won't find
Where all those pieces fell

Don't be sorry
Nothing ever really stays
And I know everything's a wave
I think I'll be okay

I just feel displaced
I feel it

I just feel displaced
In the deepest end
I'm letting people on the outside
Decide who I am
And I've been filling space
With habits I can't kick
Oh they're so tough to let go of
When I'm dark like this

So don't be sorry
I just need some solid ground
Everything is falling down
But I think I'll come around

I just feel displaced
Oh I feel it
I don't feel this place

I just feel displaced
I've been wondering
Maybe I'm still getting over
Losing my best friend
Or did I run through doors
That shouldn't have let me in
Maybe one day I'll find answers
And myself again
But right now I'm displaced