

Grave

Alex Day

Thank you for your attention
I know it's hard to listen
But while I am here, I got these words in me
I will sing on until I burn empty

I need my record straightened
I know I've made mistakes and
When I'm asleep I'll be at peace knowing
I had my time and I'm at ease showing
This is not about forgiveness
But I have something to declare

I am listening and I will learn
And I apologize to those I've hurt
I know I'm changing more every day
There'll be a stranger sleeping, sleeping
Sleeping in my grave

It's what kind of person I am
And who I leave behind when

I am only the memory of the People I loved and those who love me and
The me that they remember
Is still to be decided, who I become and
Who I take with me, what I can do
Before I am history

And I am listening and I will learn
And I apologize to those I've hurt
I know I'm changing more every day
There'll be a stranger sleeping, sleeping
Sleeping in my grave

I am listening and I will learn
And I apologize to those I've hurt
I know I'm changing more every day
There'll be a stranger sleeping, sleeping
Sleeping in my grave
