

You Don't Deserve Me

Alex Day

He gets to play you
Strummed like the strings of a harp
Fingers and feelings
And losing yourself in the dark

If I thought you'd make me lose my mind
If I sent myself way back in time
To the day your eyes first met with mine
Maybe I'd just blink and walk on by

Let me say this very clearly
No you don't deserve me
No you don't deserve me
Baby thank you for making this so easy
No you don't deserve me
No you don't deserve me

You know the music
The thrust of each beat of your heart
Makes a crescendo
With practice you play through your part

If I saw the future years ago
If I knew you'd stretch me out on show
I would tell myself to run back home
And be sure that I would never know

Let me say this very clearly
No you don't deserve me
No you don't deserve me
Baby thank you for making this so easy
No you don't deserve me
No you don't deserve me

You've exposed yourself now I can see
What is lying in and underneath
You are so much less than what you seem
So give your full attention to me

Let me say this very clearly
No you don't deserve me
No you don't deserve me
Baby thank you for making this so easy
No you don't deserve me
No you don't deserve me
