

frozen

Alex Goot

Where's my head at tonight?
Did I lose it on the train?
Or somewhere along the way, when I left from LA?

Where's my heart at these days?
Did it break in California, or the mountains in Tennessee?
I'll never know for sure

When the wind is cold and howling
And the summer's over
Who's gonna keep me warm?
I don't wanna be

Frozen, broken
Without a hand to hold and
Young and stupid
And now my heart is broken
No one else can fill that void that you left in me
Broken, useless
I'm frozen

Well I dusted off my records, just for you
And they look like new
But there's one thing missing, in my living room
A second pair of ears

When the wind is cold and howling
And the summer's finally gone
Who's gonna keep me warm?
'Cause I don't wanna be

Frozen, broken
Without a hand to hold and
Young and stupid
And now my heart is broken
No one else can fill that void that you left in me
Broken, useless
I'm frozen

Things are gonna get better here, you know
Even though it's a lonely winter cold
I've been waiting here for you
I won't be

Freezing, broken in the cold

I don't wanna be

Somewhere frozen all alone

I won't be

Frozen, broken
Without a hand to hold I'm
Young and stupid
And now my heart is broken
No one else can pull me close

On nights like this
Broken, useless
I'm frozen

Young and stupid
I'm frozen

Heart's been broken
I'm frozen
