

Congratulations

Alex Lahey

I heard the news through someone else
You settled down for wedding bells
If I don't care then why do
I still think about you all the time

Congratulations
So happy for your perfect life
There's something in my eye
I'm doing just fine without you
Without you

We were so young and immature
And fucking dumb and insecure
I guess I never really tried
You're better off, I'm out of mind

Picking apart my days of you
Rewatching all your favourite films
Since someone had you at hello
It's so much harder to let go

Congratulations
So happy for your perfect life
There's something in my eye
I'm doing just fine without you
Without you

There's no mistaking
That I'm shaken
By your lightning
Change of heart

And my obsessing
Means regressing
Even if I
Fall apart
Apart

Congratulations
Congratulations
Congratulations

So happy for your perfect life
There's something in my eye
I'm doing just fine without you
Without you