

My Neighbour

Alex Vargas

She lives in the building
Up a floor or two from me
Could be three or four
But that's not important really
When we pass each other
And she pays no mind
There's something about her
Makes it hurt every time
Every time

I couldn't quite figure out
Why it would be so painful
When I don't even know her
But I feel so regretful
Then it hit me one day
When I saw her in the street
I always look her way
But she never sees me
She never sees me

My neighbour looks just like you
In a nearby memory
My neighbour looks just like you
And it's just so hard to see

So I feel like I know her
As well as the seasons
But I'm drawn to a stranger
For the strangest reasons
And it's so hard to face it
But I can't look away
Might be easy to explain it
But it's so damn hard to say
Hard to say

My neighbour looks just like you
In a nearby memory
My neighbour looks just like you
And it's just so hard to see
My neighbour looks just like you
In a nearby memory
My neighbour, she looks just like you
And it's just so hard to see
And it's just so hard to see
And it's just so hard to see
