

The Day I Died

Alex Winston

Give me an exorcism, lord knows how bad I need one
Said it's been such a while since I've seen your white tiles
In a smile position without an opposition
Well I guess I'm alive but I feel three thousand miles away

(I see you coming to me)

Away

(I see you coming to me)

I was asleep until the day I died
I was dug deep, six feet, eyes open wide
Slack jawed on the assembly line
That I built in my own mind
I was asleep until the day I died

(I see you coming to me)

I need an exorcism, this ain't no way of living
Slow and steady down the aisle but my heart is a child
With an inner demon pleading to be forgiven
Shake me out if I'm alive, cause I feel three thousand miles away

(I see you coming to me)

Away

(I see you coming to me)

I was asleep until the day I died
I was dug deep, six feet, eyes open wide
Slack jawed on the assembly line
That I built in my own mind
I was asleep until the day I died

(I see you coming to me) (7x)

I was asleep until the day I died
I was dug deep, six feet, eyes open wide
Slack jawed on the assembly line
That I built in my own mind
I was asleep until the day I died

I see you coming to me

I see you coming... (But I heard every word)

I see you coming to me

I see you coming... (But I heard every word)

(Until the day I died)

(But I heard every word)

I see you coming...

I see you coming... (But I heard every word)

You coming for me
